NET ABSORPTION	↔	INVESTMENT YIELDS	↓	INTEREST RATES / UNEMPLOYMENT	↓ ↑
Slowdown in demand across the office markets due to delaying of leasing decisions and job-shedding in some sectors has led to increased vacancy rates. Considerable amount of sub-lease space available in some markets. Rent outlook is benign with rising face rents likely to be offset by heightened leasing incentives provided to tenants. Capitalisation rate compression likely over the next twelve months with increased demand for investment and a lowering of the gap between the property yield and long term bond rate.		3% increase in prime rents over the last 12 months with secondary rents increasing less. Prime yields have fallen to between 7.5% and 8.0%, with secondary properties yielding 9.0% plus. Moderate rent growth expected ahead, however yields are anticipated fall as the demand for industrial property strengthens, with limited supply of prime stock coming to the market.		Lower interest rates are having a positive impact on discretionary retail spending, but retailer demand particularly in the fashion sector remains constrained. Spending growth and retail turnover has shown a modest recovery but remains below long term averages. National retail vacancy rates have increased over the past year yet rents have stayed mostly flat. Rental growth prospects remain low in the short term, but landlords are likely to claw back some of the high incentives offered over the past few years. Growthpoint currently does not hold any retail assets, but will continue to monitor the sector.
